

Credit Bureau Reporting Matrix

Which US Fintech & Deposit-Focused Credit Products Report — and to Which Bureaus

Prepared: June 4, 2026 Companion to: US Fintech & Deposit-Focused Companies Offering Credit

Question answered: For each account/product, does it report payment activity to the credit bureaus, and which ones — business bureaus (Dun & Bradstreet, Experian Business, Equifax Business, SBFE) vs. consumer bureaus (Equifax, Experian, TransUnion) — and is it ongoing positive history or default-only?

How to read this — five things that matter

1. Business bureaus ≠ consumer bureaus. Building business credit (D&B PAYDEX, Experian Business, Equifax Business) is a completely separate file from your personal credit (Equifax/Experian/TransUnion). Most fintech business products that report do so to business bureaus only.
2. No-PG = usually nothing to your personal credit, ever. Without a personal guarantee there's no individual liable, so true no-PG corporate cards generally report nothing — positive or negative — to consumer bureaus, even on default. The generic "a missed business-card payment hits your personal credit after 60 days" warning applies to PG-backed cards, not genuine no-PG cards.
3. SBFE is not a bureau — it's the Small Business Financial Exchange, a member data co-op that feeds D&B, Experian, Equifax, and LexisNexis. "Reports to SBFE only" means the data can surface in business reports but through a single, narrower channel.
4. Reporting is voluntary. No law requires any issuer or vendor to report. Practices change without notice — verify before relying on any single tradeline.
5. "Default-only" is a trap for credit-builders. A product that reports only missed payments (e.g., Uline, per several sources) can hurt you but won't build positive history. For building credit you want ongoing positive reporting.

The headline: If your goal is to build business credit with zero personal-credit exposure, the cleanest, best-documented tools are Brex, Ramp, Mercury IO, Relay, and Nav Prime (all report ongoing positive history to all three major business bureaus, no PG). For a thin personal file on an ITIN, Self is the strongest confirmed builder.

PART 1 — No-PG Corporate / Charge Cards

Card	Reports?	Business bureaus	Consumer bureaus	Positive or default-only	Builds business credit
Brex	Yes	D&B, Experian, Equifax (direct)	Never	Positive, ongoing	Yes (strong)
Ramp	Yes	D&B, Experian, Equifax	Never	Positive, ongoing	Yes (strong)
Mercury IO	Yes	D&B, Experian, Equifax	None	Positive, ongoing	Yes (strong)
Rho	At discretion	D&B/Exp/Equifax (exact list unverified)	Never	Positive, ongoing	Yes (discretionary)
Stripe Corp Card	Yes	SBFE only (→ may reach the three)	None (soft pull only)	Unverified (pos vs default)	Weak (SBFE-only)
Revenued	Yes	SBFE (→ D&B)	None	Positive (timely pmts)	Yes
BILL Divvy (Spend & Expense)	Yes	SBFE → D&B, Equifax, Experian, LexisNexis	Only if PG signed + default	Positive (on-time)	Yes
Torpago	Yes	D&B confirmed; full list unverified	None	Positive (on-time)	Yes
Emburse	Personal: no (unless delinquent); business: unverified	Unverified	Possibly on delinquency (unverified)	Unverified	Not marketed
Navan (corporate)	Generally NO to business bureaus under owner	None	None	N/A	No
Capital on Tap PG required	Yes	Experian, D&B	Yes — on default (PG)	Positive to biz; default-only to personal	Yes

Takeaways: Brex, Ramp, Mercury IO are the gold standard — all three business bureaus, ongoing positive, never touch personal credit. Stripe / Revenued / BILL Divvy build via the narrower SBFE channel. Navan and Emburse are expense-management tools, not credit-builders. Capital on Tap is the one card here that can hit personal credit on default — because it requires a personal guarantee (it is not a true no-PG card).

PART 2 — Business Loans, Lines of Credit & Embedded Lenders

Lender (product)	Reports?	Business bureaus	Consumer bureaus	Positive or default-only	Builds business credit
OnDeck (loan/LOC)	Yes, monthly	Experian, Equifax, PayNet	No (routine)	Positive + negative	Yes (strong)

Lender (product)	Reports?	Business bureaus	Consumer bureaus	Positive or default-only	Builds business credit
Amex Business Blueprint (LOC)	▫ Yes, monthly	D&B, Experian Bus, Equifax Bus	No	Positive + negative	▫ Yes
Bluevine (LOC)	▫ Yes	Experian Business (some cite D&B)	Default-only (PG)	Positive + negative	▫ Yes
Fundbox (LOC)	▫ Yes	SBFE → Exp/Equ/D&B	Experian consumer (negative only)	Positive + negative	▫ Yes
Funding Circle / iBusiness (term)	Yes ▫	Experian Bus, D&B (not Equifax)	No (PG default aside)	Positive + negative	Yes ▫
PayPal Business Loan / LoanBuilder	Yes ▫	D&B, Experian Bus, Equifax Bus	No	Reported (some say negative-triggered)	Yes ▫
Credibly (MCA / loans)	MCA: No; loans: maybe	3 major business (non-MCA only)	No	Positive (non-MCA only)	Only via non-MCA products
Giggle Finance (MCA)	▫ Yes ▫	Type ambiguous	Experian + TransUnion (likely consumer)	Positive + negative	▫ Marketed loosely ▫
Rapid Finance (loans/MCA)	Default-only ▫	Unverified	Default-only ▫	Default-only	No ▫
National Funding	Conflicting / unverified	Unverified	Unverified	Unverified	Unverified
Backd (advance/ LOC)	▫ Unverified (likely no)	Unverified	Unverified	Unverified	▫ Not marketed
Mercury Working Capital (loan)	Unverified (loan) — IO card does report	IO card: Exp/Equ/D&B	No (no PG) ▫	Unverified	Unverified (loan)
Stripe Capital	▫ SBFE only ▫	SBFE → business bureaus	▫ No ▫	Performance to SBFE; collections on default	▫ Indirect / neutral ▫
Shopify Capital	No (default exception)	None	No	Default-only if any	No
Square Loans	No	None	No (collections exception)	Neutral	No
PayPal Working Capital	No	None	None	Neither	No

Takeaways: - Strongest builders (ongoing positive): OnDeck, Amex Business Blueprint, Fundbox, Bluevine, Funding Circle, PayPal Business Loan/LoanBuilder. - The famous "report nothing" group is confirmed: Square Loans, Shopify Capital, PayPal Working Capital — convenient and credit-invisible, but they build no credit. Stripe Capital is the nuance: it touches SBFE (business side) but isn't marketed as a builder. - MCAs generally don't report (Credibly's MCA, Rapid Finance's MCA). Giggle Finance is the exception — and it likely reports to consumer Experian/TransUnion, so for a sole proprietor it can affect personal credit. - Personal-credit exposure in this group comes almost entirely via personal guarantee on default (Bluevine, Funding Circle) or collections (Square/Stripe/Shopify on default) — not from ongoing reporting.

PART 3 — Neobank Credit Products & Credit-Building Tools

Product	Reports?	Business bureaus	Consumer bureaus	Positive or default-only	Builds business credit
Mercury IO	Yes	D&B, Experian, Equifax	No	Positive, ongoing	Yes (strong)
Relay Visa Credit	Yes	D&B, Experian, Equifax	No	Positive, ongoing	Yes (strong)
Nav Prime (+ Prime Card)	Yes	D&B, Experian, Equifax	No	Positive, ongoing	Yes (strong)
Credit Strong (Business)	Yes	Equifax Business + PayNet + SBFE only (not D&B/Experian)	No (business product)	Positive, ongoing	Yes (narrow)
Novo (card / Funding)	No (currently)	None	Unverified	—	No
Meow (corporate card)	No confirmed	None/unverified	No (no credit check)	—	No / unverified
NorthOne	Account: no; LOC (Kanmon): unverified	Unverified	LOC likely PG	—	LOC unverified
Baselane	No (debit card only)	None	Tenant rent reporting → tenant's consumer credit	N/A	No
Tillful	Defunct (folded into Nav, 2023)	Historically business	—	—	Use Nav Prime instead

Takeaways: Mercury IO, Relay, Nav Prime all report ongoing positive to all three business bureaus — the best neobank/tool builders. Credit Strong Business is real but siloed to Equifax/PayNet/SBFE, so it won't appear on a D&B PAYDEX or Experian Business pull. Novo, Meow, Baselane, NorthOne are not reliable business-credit builders right now.

PART 4 — Net-30 Vendor Accounts (the EIN-only credit-building base)

Vendor	Reports?	D&B	Experian Bus	Equifax Bus	Other	Notes
Crown Office Supplies	Positive				—	Standout — reports to all 3. $99/yr, DUNS required

Vendor	Reports?	D&B	Experian Bus	Equifax Bus	Other	Notes
Quill	Positive				—	Reports ~90–120 days after opening
Grainger	Positive		(recent)		—	DUNS + ~$50 min order
Wise Business Plans	Positive	Disputed			Creditsafe	$99 fee; D&B unverified
Strategic Network Solutions	Positive	/loose			Creditsafe	Reports last business day monthly
Uline	Contested			claimed	—	May report negatives only (default-only) — not reliable for positive building
Summa Office Supplies	Likely defunct net-30	(was)	(was)	claimed	—	Verify before using

Takeaways: For EIN-only credit building, Crown Office Supplies is the best single starter (all three bureaus). Quill and Grainger are solid (D&B + Experian). Uline is the biggest trap — multiple sources say it reports only negative/late activity, so it can hurt but may not help. Wise Business Plans and Strategic Network Solutions lean on Creditsafe (a smaller commercial bureau) alongside Experian/Equifax.

PART 5 — Consumer & ITIN-Focused Products (Personal Credit)

These matter for an ITIN holder building a personal credit file from scratch.

Product	Reports?	Consumer bureaus (which)	Positive or default-only	Good for ITIN credit-building?
Self (Builder + secured Visa)	Yes	All 3 (Equifax, Experian, TransUnion)	Full positive, ongoing	Excellent — no credit check, ITIN-friendly, two tradelines
Majority (Visa secured)	Yes	"One or more" — which unverified	Positive + negative	Plausibly good (immigrant-built); confirm bureaus
Tilt (Petal's successor)	Yes	All 3	Full positive	Likely; ITIN acceptance unverified
Petal 1 / Petal 2	Existing holders only	All 3	Full positive	Closed to new applicants (now Tilt)
Capital One Spark (standard variants)	Yes	All 3 personal (+ business bureaus)	Full positive	Rare business card that builds personal credit (Spark Cash Plus / Venture X Business = default-only)
Chase Ink (business)	Yes	Personal: default-only	Business positive; personal default-only	Builds business credit, not personal
Amex Business	Yes	Personal: default-only (60+ dpd)	Business positive; personal default-only	Builds business credit, not personal

Product	Reports?	Consumer bureaus (which)	Positive or default-only	Good for ITIN credit-building?
Tomo (credit card)	Not currently	Formerly all 3; none now (bureaus dropped it in 2024)	N/A	Avoid until reporting resumes
Sequin	Credit feature discontinued	Formerly Experian only (disputed)	N/A	No
Comun	Credit product in development	None confirmed	Unverified	ITIN banking yes; not a confirmed tradeline
Camino Financial (business loan)	Unverified	None (business product)	Unverified	Not a personal-credit tool
Stilt	Defunct (sold to J.G. Wentworth)	—	N/A	No

Takeaways: - Best confirmed for an ITIN thin file: Self (all 3 bureaus, no credit check, two tradelines) and Majority Visa secured (immigrant-built — confirm which bureaus). Tilt if ITIN is accepted. - Of the ITIN-accepting business cards, only Capital One Spark (standard variants) builds personal credit with ongoing positive reporting. Chase Ink and Amex Business build business credit only and touch personal credit just on default — poor choices for a thin personal file. - Do not rely on: Tomo (not reporting in 2026), Sequin (feature gone), Stilt (defunct), or Comun-as-a-tradeline (credit product unconfirmed).

PART 6 — Strategy: Building Both Files on an ITIN

To build BUSINESS credit (no personal-credit exposure): 1. Foundation: US entity + EIN + DUNS number. 2. Open 3–4 net-30 vendors that report positive — lead with Crown Office Supplies (all 3 bureaus), add Quill and Grainger. Avoid relying on Uline for positive history. 3. Add a reporting charge card / tool: Ramp or Brex (all 3 business bureaus, no PG, no personal pull) and/or Nav Prime (monthly tradeline to all 3). 4. After 6–12 months, graduate to a reporting lender (OnDeck, Amex Business Blueprint, Bluevine) for larger limits.

To build PERSONAL credit on an ITIN: 1. Start with Self (Credit Builder + secured Visa → all 3 consumer bureaus, no credit check). 2. Add Majority secured Visa or Tilt (if ITIN accepted). 3. Once a personal score exists, a Capital One Spark card can add ongoing positive personal reporting while also funding the business.

Avoid for credit-building (they report nothing): Square Loans, Shopify Capital, PayPal Working Capital — great for cheap, credit-invisible capital, but they build no file.

Important Caveats & Methodology

- Point-in-time, June 2026. Reporting practices are voluntary and change without notice. Confirm directly with each provider before relying on a tradeline.
 - WebFetch was blocked (HTTP 403) on most primary help-center pages (Mercury, Stripe, Nav, OnDeck, Bankrate, NerdWallet, vendor sites). Findings rely on search-result snippets cross-referenced across reputable third parties (Nav, NerdWallet, Bankrate, Merchant Maverick, Finder, Credit Suite, Kudos, United Capital Source) plus issuer pages. Items that could not be confirmed to a primary source are marked unverified.
 - Highest-confidence findings: Brex, Ramp, Mercury IO, Relay, Nav Prime, Self, Crown, Quill, Grainger, OnDeck, Amex Blueprint, and the "report nothing" group (Square/Shopify/PayPal WC).
 - Lowest-confidence / verify directly: Rho's exact bureau list; Stripe Corp Card positive-vs-default; Emburse and Torpago full bureau lists; Backd, National Funding, Mercury Working Capital (loan); Uline's positive-vs-default scope; Summa's availability; Wise Business Plans' D&B; Majority's specific consumer bureaus; Giggle's bureau type; Comun's credit product.
 - 2026 product-status changes to note: Tomo not currently reporting; Petal closed to new applicants (now Tilt); Sequin discontinued credit-building; Tillful folded into Nav; Stilt defunct.
 - Not legal or financial advice. Consult a qualified advisor for your situation.
